National Elevator and Escalator Association
Statement on COVID-19 Vaccinations

Toronto, ON – The National Elevator and Escalator Association (NEEA) is affirming its industry stance on behalf of its members with respect to COVID-19 vaccinations.

NEEA strongly supports its members actively encourage their employees to get vaccinated. The Association has been working with stakeholders at the local level across Canada to encourage vaccination and will continue to do so.

The Association recognizes individual jurisdictions and private entities have developed their own requirements for COVID-19 vaccinations. Since the establishment of these criteria, NEEA members have shown leadership in adhering to local requirements and working to encourage vaccinations within the industry.

NEEA is the industry voice in Canada for elevators and escalators. The Association represents the four major global manufacturers and contractors of elevating devices: KONE, Otis, Schindler and TK Elevator. The Association was incorporated in 1977 and was born out of, and is the successor to, the Canadian Elevator Manufacturers Association which was formed in the 1960's. NEEA is responsible for both negotiating collective agreements in all provinces and working with regulators and public policy stakeholders to advance issues of relevance to the industry.
